

Choices for a Healthy Life

Disease Management Program

The goal of WellCare's Disease Management Program is to identify child and adult members with asthma, diabetes, HIV/AIDS, high-risk pregnancies and other complex conditions, and provide them with education to encourage behavior changes that will improve their health and reduce complications of their disease.

Providers are a key component to the success of a comprehensive disease management program. Providers may be our best resource by:

taking initiative to assist in the identification of members who would benefit from case management programs and notify the Plan; and managing the collaborative effort to develop a member's treatment plan and case management interventions with WellCare, specialists and the member and/or the member's family.

Our case management program is also available for members in the aged, blind or disabled population for assistance with coordination and continuity of care.

Member Identification

WellCare strives to identify members most in need of disease management by utilizing clinical criteria related to each specific disease. Members are identified through the analysis of monthly claims, authorizations, encounter, and eligibility requests, as well as inpatient census reports. In addition, a provider may refer a member or members may self-refer to the program. Once enrolled, a member may choose to disenroll from the program at any time.
